HARRISBURG, Nov. 22.—How he agreed to "cut in" the late John Verona, Pittsburgh ward politician, on profits from a state gravel contract awarded the Pioneer Materials Company in November, 1936, was related to the David L. Lawrence blackmail jury today by Spurgeon Bowser, the state's star witness.

Bowser described details of the agreement under cross-examination by defense attorney K. Eaton, who set out to discredit the witness.

THANKSGIVING

In this gasoline age Father Time seems to move, with unparalleled speed in a ball-bearing groove; he speeds through the winter, takes summer on high, brings Thanksgiving round with its turkey and pie. Now it's fitting, I deem that we slow down to gear, to sum up th' blessings we've had through th' year: prosperity's knocked at many a door, but "good health" is a pleasure, I'd place at the fore.
Th' harvest has yielded its fair golden grain, there's been a rich mixture of sunshine and rain; th' orchards have furnished us fruit for the ton, so we're getting a lot more now for our money. In industry's field there's been rather slow work, but we're not crossing swords with the German or Turk; our churches and schools are doing just fine, and th' profiteer's getting th' axe, I opine.
New Castle has had a fairly good year, there's been a few sorrows, but more O' good cheer. We're lost a few kopecks, through uncontrolled greed; but we're thankful the city, has not gone to seed. Tomorrow we'll meet and unite in our praise, to the Lord O' Creation, whose lengthened our days; we'll give Him th' honor, the glory and love, for all th' rich blessings, we've had from above.

Snow makes a lot more trouble than rain, but when it melts it will fill the ground with moisture, which is what the farmers are wanting.
So let it snow.

Sometimes Pa New wonders why it is that when a man calls his wife over the telephone, she is either in the cellar or up-stairs and comes to the phone all out of breath.

To paraphrase a well known Salvation Army aphorism, a town will be down, but not out. In this connection there is inspiration in the story of Scotland, Pa. In 1934 the

Turkeys Little Cheaper But Dinner Will Cost Same As One Year Ago

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22.—Although turkeys are five per cent cheaper than in 1938, tomorrow's Thanksgiving dinner will cost Pennsylvania housewives just as much as it did last year.

This, merchants explained today, is due to a slight rise in the cost of vegetables and other incidentals which make up the festive table.
Despite an increased demand for the traditional fowl—a demand apparently reflecting increased employment and higher wages—the supply has been more than enough to meet holiday requirements so far, dealers reported.

Turkey prices generally are now two to three cents less a pound than in 1938, one of the city's large independent dealers said, but the five to 15 per cent increase in the cost of groceries and vegetables will bring the 1939 Thanksgiving feast up to about last year's in cost. The November price level for the big birds is considerably lower than that caused by the war-scare flurry a month or two ago.

Incidentally, Pennsylvania housewives apparently are not in the least perturbed about the new Thanksgiving date which advances tomorrow's observance a week ahead of the usual time.

"November 23 is the only date they recognize," said one poultry man. "Thanksgiving can come when it likes—but dinner is coming tomorrow."

LONDON, Nov. 22.—While Great Britain moved to place retaliatory measures against Germany's "Blitzkrieg At Sea" into immediate effect, another neutral vessel ran afoul of a mine today off the southeast coast of England.

It was announced that the Italian steamer Pianona received a serious hole in its hull when it struck a mine.

The crippled vessel remained afloat, however, and tugs today were trying to tow her to port.

After the ship struck the mine, a lifeboat sped to the scene and stood by the rest of the night. It

Alleged Hit-Run Driver Held

Named Ideal Freshman Girl At Westminster

MISS EUGENIA ESSEN

NEW WILMINGTON, Nov. 22.—
Westminster's "Ideal Freshman

life and friends even after marriage will be largely built upon college as-

Remarkable Coincidence In Reported Arrest On Two Anti-Nazi Agents

(International News Service)

The remarkable coincidence of date and place today linked the reported arrest of two alleged British anti-Nazi agents, and the shooting of two Dutch subjects at Venlo, on the German-Dutch border Nov. 9.

While no connection between the two incidents was established, it was notable that both occurred on the same site the day after the Munich attempt to assassinate Chancellor Hitler. Also, several men were reported "kidnaped" into Germany after the shooting.

"Mr. Best and Captain Stevens" were arrested at Venlo, Nov. 9, as they tried to enter the Reich, German police said.

Dutch and German authorities still are investigating the other incident, a subject of a Netherlands protest to Berlin. At the time the Dutch communicate said.

"At 4:30 p. m. a Dutch car stopped some distance from the German frontier and two men alighted. Six civilians approached and began shooting. One man was killed and one seriously injured."

"Thereupon a German car approached from Germany. The victims from the Dutch car were dragged into Germany."

DECLARES VIRTUAL WAR ON 'BLACK FRONT'

Exiled Former Nazi Leader
Denies That He Directed
Bombing Effort

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Nov. 22.—A systematic campaign to wipe out every last vestige of internal opposition within the Reich was predicted by well-informed Berlin quarters today in the wake of the confession by George Elser, 36-year old German citizen that he set the time bomb which nearly claimed the life of Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler
in Munich on November 8.

Nazi Germany virtually declared war upon the anti-Nazi "Black Front" governed from abroad by Otto Strasser, officially described as a "renegade," who was named along with "British agents" as spiritual author of the assassination attempt.

Further Sensations Seen
"Further sensations" were promised by Nazi spokesmen who identified Elser—still a mysterious and enigmatic prisoner—as "merely a tool" in the conspiracy aimed at the assassination of Hitler and other leading members of the Nazi regime.

Elser's part in the attempted killing was merely that of a technical assistant, it was said. Considerable stress was laid upon the arrest of two men described as British agents—"Mr. Best and a Captain Stevens."

These two men were taken into custody when they attempted to cross the Dutch-German border at Venlo, Holland, the morning after the assassination effort. Their arrest followed a searching examination by German agents of what was described as a carefully organized anti-German organization operated by the British intelligence service at The Hague.

State Probes, Trials Cost Near $100,000

Figures Given In Dauphin Co.

Further Expense Will Be Incurred As Trials Are Not Yet Concluded

GRAND JURY PROBES COST STATE $51,656.35

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Nov. 22.—The cost of Dauphin county's five-and-a-half months investigation of irregularities in the Democratic administration plus expenses of two graft trials, today was placed at more than $92,278.

Including October 31, county officials said, the 1939 grand jury expenses were $51,656.35, with $2247 of the amount being expended during the month.

The monthlong trial cost Dauphin county $5864.85, and the Kirk-Skok-Temple trial $4874.42.

County officials also revealed that the state has not forwarded $29,880.91 for grand jury expenses in 1939. The money was part of the $100,000 appropriated last spring by the legislature to help defray expenses of the investigation.

It had been announced at the capitol last week, county officials declared, that a check for the amount would be sent to the county very soon.

Meanwhile, the French government, in conjunction with England, approved plans to tighten the blockade of Germany, leading to the possibility that all German seaborne commerce with neutrals may be cut off.

It was agreed, according to earlier testimony, that Verona was to receive all in excess of ninety cents a ton paid to the company by the state for gravel used on Erie county highways.

"The contract was awarded but not before I was made to understand by Verona that it would not be awarded unless I acceded to his demands," related Bowser in the trial's eighth day.

Bowser astounded the crowded Dauphin county court, where the former secretary of the commonwealth in the Earle administration is being tried for blackmail and extortion, by naming another Earle cabinet official as recipient of $35,000 from the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Bowser quoted Lawrence as having told him in a Pittsburgh hotel room that Arthur Colegrove, while secretary of property and supplies, accepted the money as a political contribution from the railroad's attorney.

town went flat. Mills and factories closed, bread lines formed. The town's plight became so desperate that the Emergency Relief Administrator, classed it as the hardest hit town in the United States. Community leaders refused to give up. They went after new industries with the result that Scottsdale is today back on its feet and in better shape than ever in its history. Courage and perseverance of a handful of citizens won the day.

Those couples who had their weddings fixed for Thanksgiving day have had to move the date a week which is one reason why the marriage license bureau has been kept on the jump.

Road supervisors who have failed to get the black top-dressing on their township highways will now get a white dressing at no extra expense.

There's many a vacant room in the hen houses this week, and not much of the joy of Thanksgiving among those who are left. But there'll be plenty of joy among those who get the white meat.

Pa New is thankful that there have been no epidemics, serious fires or floods, during the past year. It's time also to count your individual blessings.

Pa New notes that pick-up mail services have been inaugurated at a number of airports in surrounding towns. New Castle has a good airport, why not have some pick-up.

Another thing to be thankful for is that our big tin mill is going. It means a joyous Thanksgiving for many workers, with prospects of a "Merry Christmas."

L. M. Roxbury, of Prospect, dug a potato that looks like a trained seal, one way you hold it, and a hippopotamus, when held another way. We don't care if a potato looks like a giraffe as long as it's well cooked and we have plenty of brown gravy.

With all the employment there seems to be a scarcity of domestic help in New Castle. Pa New heard a woman remark yesterday that she had advertised and inquired of everybody she knew in efforts to get help. She had been successful several times during the past year, but the trouble seems to have been that about the time she'd get a girl broken in, she went off and got married. Girls who are looking for a man would do well to take this hint.

The general public seems to take very little interest in naturalization court, which is now going on at the court house. Yet it is an important feature of our population. Those to whom citizenship papers are issued become voters, and as such are expected to assume part of the responsibility of government. What kind of government they will encourage depends largely on their intelligence and fitness to become citizens. The mere wish to become a citizen so that one may share in our welfare and old age pension plans, does not constitute good citizenship.

Few old adages are as truthful as "laugh and the world laughs with you," especially the "weep and you weep alone" part. No one who makes a habit of being dreary is welcome for any great length of time in any normal household. It isn't that friends are necessarily unsympathetic, it's that no one wants to mull over trouble, especially other people's, and that everyone prefers laughter to tears.

The time of the New Castle-Sharon game Thursday has been changed to 2:30 o'clock at the request of Sharon. The original starting time was to be 2 o'clock, but the locals announced the time at 2:30 today, giving everybody a half-hour more to either digest or eat more turkey.

A timely Thanksgiving display in the display case on the public library property on the corner of North Mercer and North streets, has been attracting considerable attention.

The weatherman has promised a generally fair day with not much change in temperature for Thursday (Thanksgiving Day). This will no doubt delight the football fans as well as those who are planning on a motoring trip to partake of turkey with relatives.

It seems the revolving doors are against the law now, or at least against the rules of a state department in Harrisburg. As a result, the old revolving doors in the front entrance of the court house are being taken out and a set of swinging doors are being installed.

It's An Old Custom This Christmas Shopping

THESE many Christmases we've watched an infinite number of people come in to do their shopping. Some of them drove up in Packards—some walked in broken shoes; some were merry, laughing, gay; some were serious, quietly happy. They all had two things in common, though, in spite of their surface differences.

EVERY one of these persons was imbued with the spirit that is Christmas—a mellow happiness and feeling of friendliness that makes Christmas the most enjoyable time of the year. The second feeling that all these people shared was that Strouss-Hirshberg's was their store, ready to serve them! We are quite proud that our store is so versatile—catering to those who can afford the best and at the same time, serving and caring for those with whom strict economy is a necessity!

THANKSGIVING!

It is the duty of all nations to acknowledge the providence of Almighty God, to obey His will, to be grateful for His benefits, and humbly to implore His protection and favor.

The words are those of George Washington and they form the introductory paragraph to the first Thanksgiving Proclamation.

Both Thanksgiving and Christmas meet definite human needs. That is why, in one form or another, they have persisted throughout countless generations of men. Other peoples and other nations knew their spirit long before the Pilgrim Fathers established a form of national Thanksgiving on the shores of infant America.

Thanksgiving, observed in the spirit which Washington recommended, is rightly the forerunner of Christmas. We give thanks to God for His bountiful gifts and so enlarge our own spirit of giving by way of emulation.

Sometimes we look at life as through a glass, darkly, and wonder if after all the material things of life have any relation to the spiritual; whether, indeed, a religion that rejoices in them is worth while. The world is so full of selfishness, with all too often unscrupulousness apparently paying larger dividends than virtue, with "right forever on the scaffold, wrong forever on the throne"; with dishonesty so frequently winked at in high places, with poverty so often robbed of its little by greedy wealth.

But we have only to think a little to understand that Washington was entirely right in urging upon his countrymen in that early day that they bow their heads in humble gratitude for the blessings, both material and spiritual, bestowed upon them.

There is a religion in China which takes account of spiritual values only. Yet it has left the great mass of its people hungry and cold and despoiled by an acquisitive invader, with men heavily burdened, women in distress and children coming along to take their places in the ranks of endless toil and despair. Our religion recognizes both the spiritual and the material, and it is for us to make the spiritual and the material dovetail together in our everyday processes of life.

Deep in the hearts of most of us there is that desire, a desire promoted by Thanksgiving and enlivened and colored by the coming of the Christmas season, when the spirit of Thanksgiving for which we now render thanks to Almighty God blossoms into fruition in our own lives, as we gladly share our blessings with our friends and less fortunate neighbors.

FOR SAFE WINTER DRIVING

The National Safety Council's committee on winter driving hazards, headed by Prof. Ralph A. Moyer of Iowa State College, and composed of twenty-eight leading authorities in all branches of research and automotive transportation, is making a strong "counter attack" on Old Man Winter by exploding fallacious theories and proving the facts on safe winter driving by impartial research and tests.

The "Seven Tips For Safe Winter Driving," revised and based on the new research conducted thus far, follow:

1. Test brakes for simultaneous gripping.
2. Check condition of windshield wiper, defroster and tire chains. Watch out for children on sleds.
3. Travel at less than moderate speeds on snow or ice covered highways and city streets. The common practice of lowering tire pressure gives only slightly more traction and not nearly sufficient for all-around safety. It also damages tires. Non-skid treads on tires are definitely helpful on wet pavement, but only to a very limited extent on snow, while on ice they give no more anti-skid protection than smooth tires.
4. Leave plenty of room between you and the car ahead. Necessity for sudden stops and turns should be avoided. Take curves slowly, even with chains, and don't try to pass cars ahead of you on hills and curves.
5. Put on chains wherever dangerous packed snow and ice prevails to any extent, particularly on hills. "Without chains or cinders on an icy road it is unsafe to overtake vehicles in urban areas, and hazardous in rural areas, unless the road is clear for a half mile ahead."
6. When stopping on ice and snow keep car in gear and apply brakes before you would in dry weather. Use tire chains but drive as if you didn't have them. They add appreciably to control of car. On ice and snow chains on rear wheels alone reduce stopping distances 25 to 35 per cent, and on all four wheels 40 to 50 per cent. "Pump" brakes, even with chains, to keep wheels from locking completely.
7. Exercise greater caution generally and open coil ventilator to force out possible carbon monoxide gas, since opening side windows alone reduces inside air pressure and sucks exhaust gases through floor boards.

Remember: "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Sen. Carter Glass offers the Democratic party a victory formula for 1940:

"I can tell you better what it ought not to do to win. It ought to stop spending more than the government can collect."

NEW YORK—Allen W. Dulles, former adviser to the naval and disarmament conferences, believes America should tend to its own knitting:

"If we could apply one-tenth of the energy and self-sacrifice that the citizens of other countries are devoting to war, we could go far towards eliminating the ills that beset us here at home."

SAN FRANCISCO—Sen. Hiram Johnson takes a skeptical view of the international war situation:

"The situation over there now really exists in the brains of a few diplomats. Outside of them, no one knows what the situation really is."

TRENTON, N. J.—Gov. A. Harry Moore criticizes federal civil service age limits:

"We hear from Washington about the failure of industry to employ men and women in the older groups and yet the government itself is the worst offender."

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CHILD'S ROAD TO HAPPINESS

PERHAPS the biggest barrier to growth of character in our children is the notion that the road to happiness leads through luxury and ease. So many children are ashamed of their parents and their homes because these homes, outside and inside, don't match in material ways the homes of certain other children.

Think of the thousands and thousands of youngsters who are ashamed of the very parents who, sacrificing almost everything to clothe these children, don't have money to buy clothes for themselves. When such self-denying parents so lead their children to be ashamed of them and their homes, they not only have brought unhappiness to themselves but also have caused immeasurable damage to the character, personality and happiness of these children.

Pitiful Condition
Pitiful, indeed, is the state of mind and emotions of the child who is ashamed of his parents and his home for material reasons. How can he then be grateful to them? How can he gain from them the best of character and personality they have to give?

In addition to making undue sacrifices for their children, parents also are inclined to offer excuses before company, in their children's presence, for not having this or that. If only these parents were wiser, they would avoid this bad practice and try always to be gracious hosts, regardless of the material things they have at hand.

To a certain young woman who wrote me about her loneliness and personality fears, I suggested she try to learn more social skills, make herself go where other young folk are and attract her friends to her home.

"You might, for example, invite some of your girl friends to your home for lunch or tea," I said. "It need not be expensive."

"I wouldn't think of inviting my friends to my home," she replied. "Our furniture is so poor and we don't have two cups alike."

Her Trouble
To this I rejoined: "There's your trouble. You have a foolish messianic idea of values. No doubt your girl friends would be very happy to be in your plain home. They would admire you for adapting yourself to it—they would if they were real friends. If not your going with them will do you increasing harm and pile up your feelings of inferiority."

Let those parents who care provide a home atmosphere for their children in which they will acquire ideals above the level of the grease on a dollar bill. Really, some of the greatest people you and I have ever known have had but little of this world's goods. In their presence we forgot things made with hands and bought with price.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

WASHINGTON AND LINCOLN DAY?

Out of the hubbub over America's two Thanksgiving Days for 1939 has come spontaneous publicity for the spirit of America that should prove a tonic to all men in the world who believe in individual freedom of action and speech. Most of the news is humor typically American. With its tongue in its cheek the town of Plymouth, where the first Thanksgiving Day was held, invited President Roosevelt to be its guest at dinner November 30th. And with his tongue in his cheek, the President, who has proclaimed November 23 for the "Day" politely sent his "regrets" because he has "a previous engagement."

The forty-eight States are evenly divided. Twenty-three, including Pennsylvania, have adopted the earlier date. Twenty-three have decided on the traditional last Thursday. The remaining two, Texas and Colorado, have accepted both dates. Such a coincidence of exactly even divisions make one suspect that the Governors got together to have some fun. And only chuckles were evoked by the widely-printed gag: "Thirty days hath September, April, June and November; All the rest have thirty-one—Until we hear from Washington." Lucky America! The tolerance, the independence, the mutual good will behind such humor bespeaks the solid, enduring value of the American way of life more eloquently than a library of learned exposition.

Seriously, our President does suggest the character of King Canute, who placed his Throne chair by the Sea and commanded the tide to come no nearer.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

MONUMENT
When from the world I turn away
I hope in truth that all can say
He never did or spoke the thing
That caused another suffering.

When done with life, ere I depart
Denied much wisdom, skill or art
God grant that: this my boast can be:
None suffered loss or pain by me.

When life's last boundary I reach,
Exhausted strength and done with speech,
I hope about my patch of earth
A flower or two shall tell my worth.

A hand remembered once outstretched
Giving the help I gladly fetched
A life-time lived with common stuff,
Just this—is monument enough.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 4:38. Sun rises tomorrow 6:56.

We have noticed recently that quite a few louts throw lighted cigarettes out of windows in high buildings. No brains!

No bottle displays are allowed any more in liquor store windows in Pennsylvania. However, in the windows will now be displayed pictures showing the natural beauty, history and industry of the state. Of course one could also get some color out of the bottles that used to be shown in them.

A lot of people are already trying to think what a great man Santa Claus is. If they don't get anything for Christmas they will say he is a bum.

I thought of sailing seven seas, Or being a hermit, if you please. But then, oh well, there is the phone; Maybe some other girl is home. There's Betty and Dot and sweet Joan. And Caroline whose summer tan is great. And then there's Lil and Sue. The both of them I've dated, too.

By gosh I won't be in a pickle, Just because one girl is fickle.

A Harlanburg man says he has a baseball dog, explaining: "He wears a muzzle, catches flies, chases fowls and beats it for home when he sees the catcher coming."

Man addressing woman—"I don't know if God makes women so beautiful and yet so dumb." Woman countering—"He makes us beautiful so you love us and makes us dumb so we love you."

We have often wondered why auto driving is not being taught in the public schools. There isn't anything more important today than being able to drive a car.

TODAY'S STORYETTE
"You boys of today want to make too much money," said Uncle Henpeck. "Say, do you know what I was getting when I married your aunt?"
"No," replied the nephew, "and I'll bet you didn't either."

On December 1, the price of milk goes up one cent a quart. The producer gets the cent and the consumer pays it. The man who handles the milk still gets the same and it's the most of all.

A wizard is a man who can keep up with the Joneses and the installments too.

"Tell me all about yourself," said the girl, edging cozily closer on the davenport.
"Ah, yes," said the young man. "You know, of course, of my work. But, probably, I never before have told you that I love the fine, the beautiful and the good."

"Darling," cried the girl. "This is awfully sudden, but I think my father will consent."

Quiet, they say, is relative. Take for instance, the man who attended a party the other night. Next morning he raised the dickens around the house, declaring the cat was making too much noise stomping across the floor.

The man who can conquer the worst in himself has met and solved the biggest problem he will ever face.

A barber tells us he is so sure his product, a hair restorer, will produce the goods that he gives a comb with every bottle.

"Well," sniffed the landlady, after watching the boarder striving valiantly with the steak. "Was anything wrong with it?"
"Madam," he said politely, "I did think it a wee bit underweight, probably due to overtraining, as I never noted firmer muscles anywhere."

So many people hang themselves in colors. It would be better if they did it in the attic, as people have to go to cellars many times a day and it makes them feel spooky if they know some one hanged themselves there.

Death is giving President Roosevelt control of the Supreme Court. He tried it by fighting for it and failed. Wonder why any one would try to control a court of any kind?

TWO OF A KIND
My girl was always sweet to me. It seemed that we could happy be. I'd never gazed at eyes so blue. Nor lips as fresh as morning dew. Her cheeks were like the cool dawn's blush.

Her voice as golden as a thrush. But of what good were all these charms? I caught her in another's arms.

I thought of sailing seven seas, Or being a hermit, if you please. But then, oh well, there is the phone; Maybe some other girl is home.

WASTED EFFORT

Grandpaw says some attorneys need a little more information about farming. He reached his conclusion after being called as a witness in a case.

"Can you understand a simple problem?" an attorney asked Grandpaw.

"Yes."

"Then if 10 men can plow a field in half a day how long will it take 20 men to plow that same field?"

"They wouldn't bother," said Grandpaw.

"Why not?"

"Wouldn't be any use going over the same ground the 10 men already had plowed."

It looks as if that chap in Mercer who has been in jail several times for refusing to have his son vaccinated is getting very popular and he may get a job in the movies in Hollywood.

It looks as if some people will celebrate Thanksgiving every day now until the first of December. All right if they do it in the right way.

ADVICE

"I am getting tired sending in contributions only to have them rejected by you," declared the visitor to the editor. "What do you want me to do, stop writing poetry?"

"No," said the editor terse. "Just begin."

Banks in New York are planning a five day week and closing all day on Saturday. There are a lot of people who have no business with a bank only on Saturday. If the bank closed all day every day in the week they would not be missed as much as on Saturdays.

WE HAVEN'T

Did you know that the women spent more on rouge than all the oil companies spend painting their tanks? A young man asked Flossie Fernhill yesterday.

"No, I didn't," said Flossie. "But what of it? The money gets results. Did you ever hear of a man taking a 50,000 gallon oil tank out on a date?"

A doctor in Illinois will go to the chair for shooting a man who was both a lawyer and newspaper publisher. Just because he was a lawyer is no good reason he should be shot as a newspaper publisher. We don't like that publisher shooting stuff.

When some birds get into jail they try to get out on a plea that they are sick. Any well person could very easily think he is sick after getting into jail.

Leave the idle rich to nemesis. Death and death are at their heels. The men who operate our great enterprises—mills, factories, elevators, banks and department stores—know nothing of ease. The greater thing in the world is joy, but the stricken know this better than anyone else.

Readers' Questions Answered

Dear Miss Markel: I have planned to celebrate my 20th wedding anniversary with an evening party. Please give me some suggestions as to decorations, refreshments and dress.—Hostess.

Answer: The twentieth is the china anniversary. So, for your dining table, use your very best china and carry out its color scheme in your other decorations. For instance, if you have floral china with blue predominating use a white tablecloth, a white vase with blue flowers and low white china candlesticks with blue candles. A tiered wedding cake with the number "20" superimposed on its top layer will add color to our festive occasion. On your sideboard or serving table might well be placed another vase of flowers of either the same variety as those on the dining table or some other that harmonize.

"I did," said the girl. "But you know it takes time for them to find a new house large enough for all of us."

What's What At A Glance

Secretary Perkins Will Retain Post
Is No Idol With Newspaper Fraternity
University Woman Says She's Not Liked

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—If you have concluded in your masculine mind, "a lady reader of my column writes to me from Berkeley, Cal., that women stick together, that they favor their sex 'going places' in politics regardless of how the woman may conduct herself in office, what I surely don't know women."

What I did was to write a column summing up the respective records to date of our various cabinet members, and endeavoring, as well as I was able, to assess their assorted popularities.

In due course I got down to Labor Secretary Frances Perkins.

Now I know as well as anybody that plenty of people don't overly like "Modem" Perkins. She's a bit too radical in her views for some. She also has a rather undiplomatic personality. Her tongue is sharp and she isn't at all hesitant to say whatever she thinks.

Mme. Perkins No Idol

She's no idol with the generality of newspapermen who attend her press conferences. I'm acquainted with several labor leaders who make very disagreeable remarks about her—not on account of her policies, but because of sarcastic, unpleasant things she's said to them.

Nevertheless my impression was that she's most solidly entrenched in her cabinet post while the Roosevelt New Deal lasts.

One reason I had for believing so is that outstanding feminists I've met swear by her, by an overwhelming majority. A number of these national feminist organizations have headquarters in Washington. I've talked with a goodly bunch of them. They were nearly unanimously pro-"Modem" Perkins. They didn't like her personality, but they evidently felt that, as our first woman cabinet member, she was entitled to their unqualified support in office.

Feminist Sentiment

So I concluded that, due to feminist sentiment, she's as irremovable as the Washington monument so long as the New Deal prevails.

I still surmise that the right so far as concerns professional feminists.

I likewise surmise that such is the administration's diagnosis—that it wouldn't dare to disturb her politically lest a feminist political revolt ensue.

But perhaps I was mistaken in relying too utterly upon the verdict of prominent feminists without consulting the rank-and-file of women. I admit I don't know 'em all. I thought the prominent ones were a characteristic cross section.

My Berkeley correspondent assures me that my guess is "the most astonishing one" that she "ever read."

Here's Why

"And I'll tell you why," she adds. "About six years ago," she relates, "I was in a group of women, some Republicans and some Democrats, and the only thing that every woman in the room agreed on was that Miss Perkins was a mistake."

"Some of the Democrats, who were vehemently pro-Roosevelt, made the remark that they would hesitate to vote for Roosevelt at the next election if they thought he would put 'that woman' in the cabinet again, but they were sure of course that by then he would have realized his error."

What Unanimity!

"Living," continues my correspondent, "in a university city and having been connected with the university, I have many, many friends in the university group. I have asked them all, men and women, professors and students, and have set to find one who has any use for her."

"I have asked store clerks, beauty parlor operators, stenographers, business women in executive positions, writers, housewives, conservatives, liberals pro-Roosevelt and anti-Roosevelt. I have obtained opinions from New York, Illinois, Kentucky, Ohio, Tennessee and Florida. I have just about polled all my friends, acquaintances, relatives and strangers who will discuss the subject (and they all will), and I have never found anyone, male or female, who isn't antagonistic to Miss Perkins."

The greater number are so violently antagonistic and this is truer of women than of men that they lapse almost into apoplexy."

A critic like this should be identified.

It's Estelle MacMahon of Berkeley. There's no request for anonymity.

Comment by other ladies will be welcome.

Alderman Green Has Again 'Accepted' Election

Alderman O. H. P. Green has "accepted" his election to the aldermanhood of the third ward. Under the law, an elected alderman must first sign a certificate of acceptance before he can be commissioned, and this the veteran alderman has done.

Getting commissions as alderman of the third ward is an old story with Alderman Green. Back in 1905 he defeated Alderman Charles W. Haus, who had served 17 years in the post, and since then Alderman Green has been winning elections in the same manner that he takes his meals.

When he was elected first, Theodore Roosevelt was president of the United States, Charles W. Fairbanks was vice president, Samuel W. Pennypacker was governor of Pennsylvania, and William M. Brown of New Castle was lieutenant-governor.

William E. Porter was the judge of Lawrence county, and M. Louis Hainer was the mayor of New Castle. Ice cream sodas were a nickel each; women were asking for the vote, and automobiles were still considered to be the pesky things that scared horses.

The Panama canal was a point of controversy in the barber shops, living rooms were still known as parlors, nice girls didn't smoke cigarettes and painted finger nails were a sign of moral decadence. It was the mauve age, just over the hill from the gay nineties, and the world was at peace.

But Alderman Green goes on and on, marrying folks, issuing hunting and fishing licenses, sitting in state in his Hall of Justice on East Washington street, collecting commissions from governors of Pennsylvania and philosophizing upon the world at large.

Pocket-Picking Is Not Frequent Here

Pickpockets Of Yesteryear Abandoned "Vocation" For Other "Jobs"

There are yet some pickpockets but they are not as numerous as they were a score of years ago, according to Police Sergeant M. J. Young. A score of years ago it was not unusual for a squad of plainclothesmen to round up a "mob" (so-called because of their numbers, usually three or four) as soon as they entered the city.

With plenty of money to be gained from the illicit traffic in liquor, the pickpockets abandoned their vocation and became bootleggers or operators of trucks which carried liquor to various cities, he stated.

"Of course," added Young, "there are pickpockets in the larger cities. The only time they hit the small city is when some big celebration is under way and usually a sharp guard is maintained to prevent pockets being picked."

The pickpocket mobs usually operated in "threes". One would jostle a victim, another would steal the pocketbook or "poke" and the third would get it, leave the vicinity, extract the money and other valuables then disperse of the pocketbook so it could not be found.

One of their favorite practices, when caught, was to return to the victim twice as much money as stolen, providing he would not prosecute. However, whenever one was unable to do this and received a jail sentence this caused them to steer clear of the city where they were apprehended.

"Gypsies are the persons one must watch," Young explained. "They'll ask directions to the nearest town and there is on record many instances where pockets were picked while the questions were being asked. Gypsies now travel in fast cars and after a 'job' flee quickly from the scene."

A hermit is looked upon as a solitary and lonely figure. Don't waste sentiment and pity on him.

The hermit made his choice and retired from society. The lonely child, however, needs sympathy and aid.

What makes a lonely child? Unsettled family life deprives a child of playmates.

A long illness will remove a child from associates. Deformities, even inferior clothing isolate the child.

Many "poor little rich boys" are lonely.

They have every luxury in the world but friends. A hermit is lonely because he chooses to be.

The child is lonely due to no choice of his own.

Sand Man Ready To Defy King Winter

Large Supply Of Sand And Salt Ready For Safety Operation

To little children the Sand Man is a chap who "throws sand in their eyes" so make them sleep at night, but to street electric railway car operators and drivers of motor vehicles he is a disciple of safety. He was ready to go on the job because of the rain, sleet and snow.

Should weather conditions become such as to necessitate placing sand on street car tracks, the sand man does it, and puts as much on as necessary for safe operations.

The New Castle Street Electric railway of which Thomas C. Moore is superintendent, has 130 tons of sand and a considerable number of tons of salt stored here.

The materials are mixed, 70 percent sand and 30 percent salt, and this prevents car wheels skidding, and also helps the motorists who, despite warnings, persist in driving a motor car on street car rails.

Days like today cause motor cars to skid, hence the plea of Superintendent Moore.

"Do not drive inside car rails. If you do you are risking accident."

let us be thankful for the privilege of living electrically

1620 Thanksgiving 1939

THEY cooked a turkey on a spit before a blazing hearth fire. We put one in an electric oven, and let it cook untended until it's done to a delicious turn. They baked in a dutch oven, or in a pan buried in the ashes. We use an electric range with perfect heat control. They dipped candles and sewed and read by their flickering light. We flip a switch and get a flood of light. They spun, wove and sewed their clothing by hand. We make far lovelier fabrics on electric looms, and stitch them into garments on electric sewing machines.

THEY cut and hauled big logs to feed the fire and keep the cabin passably warm. We can let an electric stoker run a central fire that keeps a whole house toasty warm. They were deeply grateful for their chance to do all these laborious tasks in their new world. How much more thankful we should be for the benefits of electric living, which we take so much as a matter of course. Just for fun this Thanksgiving look about your own home and compare it with a Pilgrim's log cabin. To be sure there have been 318 years between, but that is a very short time for so much to have happened to man's mode of living.

MINUS ELEPHANT; KIDS BUILD ONE TO EXHIBIT IN CIRCUS

(International News Service)
NEW YORK—When you have a circus, you gotta have an elephant. That's what the children of Queens' County playground figured recently before they gave their circus. So they built an elephant and to be sure their effort would not be misconstrued, they hung a sign on it saying, "This is an elephant."
They also built other animals, horses, giraffes, bears, bulls and a great "giant hoots."
And they borrowed real animals from the Bronx zoo. The animals were led by Joe, a 2½-year-old chimpanzee, wearing a sailor suit.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Work On Opera Is Progressing

Jane Bollinger And John Phillips Have Two Of Leading Parts

Something that has probably never been done locally by an amateur vocal group is being planned by the Seventh Ward Young People's chorus, in the form of a complete opera, the "H. M. S. Pinafore".

The opera will be presented in the Sunday school rooms of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church on Tuesday, December 5. Miss Violet Shuler is director of this group of young people.

Work on the concert music is now well under way and regular practice sessions are being held in order to make the program as perfect as possible.

Miss Jane Bollinger of West Madison avenue, quite a popular resident of the ward, and possessor of a very pleasing voice, has been selected to handle one of the leading parts. She will sing the contralto role of "Buttercup, the Bumbost Woman".

In another of the leading parts, and singing with Miss Bollinger is John Phillips of Clemmore boulevard. Mr. Phillips sings baritone and takes the part of the ship's captain in the opera. He is troubled, as his role demands, because his daughter Josephine is in love with a sailor much below his station in life. Mr. Phillips has a voice of wide range, according to Miss Shuler, and is well known by his local radio work.

Miss Bollinger and Mr. Phillips will be accompanied by a chorus of 25 voices.

Union Service In Ward Is Tonight

Rev. D. J. Blasdel, pastor of the Methodist church, will be in charge of the service, and music will be furnished by the Methodist church choir.

EVEREADY CLASS MEETS IN WARD

Special Program Given At School

Celebration Of National Book Week Ends At Mahoning
Junior High School

Mahoning junior high school, just as many other schools and associations about the country, celebrated National Book Week, and the celebration at the ward school has just come to a close.

"Around the World With Books," was the theme stressed in the celebration.

To carry out this slogan a display of articles from different countries was arranged in the school library. All articles were contributed by the students. Countries represented were: Poland, Wales, England, China, Holland, Germany, Italy, Argentina, Canada, Mexico, Japan, Bermuda, Syria, Czechoslovakia, Greece and Hawaii.

Projects were made by the Book Worms, the library squad, to illustrate the books in the library.

Climaxing the celebration a program was presented in the school auditorium. "Book Review" was the play title and the 8B-1 class presented it. Members of the 6B-1 class presented the play "Story Terrace".

CONTEST WINNERS TO BE HONORED AT DINNER

Members of the winning team, captained by Mary Phillips, in the attendance contest sponsored by the Young People's Sunday school class of the Mahoning Methodist church, will be feted at a dinner to be served by the losing team, captained by Henry Hamilton, on Friday evening at the church. The contest closed last Sunday.

The dinner is scheduled for 6 o'clock, and the captains have charge of all arrangements. John Davis is teacher of the class.

(International News Service)
KANSAS CITY, Oct. 27—Nicely done lamb chops, the philanthropy of a dog-lover and the sweat of a couple of diggers resulted in the rescue of a fox terrier from a sewer pipe—after the fire department had given up the job.

"I'll give you $25 if you get that dog out of there," Victor Speas, who lives near the scene, told Fred Clifton, a Negro houseman. Clifton got several helpers and they dug down to where the sewer pipe branched into a number of directions.

Then, using a string and the lamb chops—provided by Speas—Clifton "fished" in the various openings. Soon he got a "bite" in one of them. After a little more fishing, the dog emerged trailing the last chop. He had been imprisoned more than two days and was exhausted.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright 1939, King Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

DAFOE CUTS CONTACT OF QUINTUPLETS WITH POS- SIBLE COLD-CARRIERS TO ABSOLUTE MIN- IMUM

When an adult gets a cold in his head, he has an uncomfortable time for a few days. His head is stuffed, his nose bothers him, his eyes are sore and watery. After a few days, however, this condition usually clears up, the cold leaves him and becomes only a dismal memory.

But with a baby it's different. It's an unusual thing for him to have a head cold that doesn't spread to other parts of his respiratory system. His cold begins in the head, then it spreads to the ears; sometimes the mastoid is infected, the bronchial tubes and the lungs may be involved; frequently it ends up with pneumonia.

So, when the common cold is such a serious thing with a baby, it is up to us to do everything in our power to see that our children get all the protection we can give them.

The first thing to do is to give up any old ideas we had that colds in children are a necessary evil. They aren't. Children get colds just the way we adults do. That isn't by sitting in a draught or by getting wet feet. Your child doesn't develop a cold unless he comes in contact with someone who having a cold, passes the germ on to him.

In the case of the Quintuplets we were able to isolate them to a greater degree than can be done with most children. However, from time to time they caught colds and suffered many setbacks. Every time they developed a cold, I made it my business to investigate the cause, and every single time we found that someone had come into the nursery either suffering from a cold or just getting over one.

I hope you don't get the idea that I am suggesting that it is all right for your child to sit in a draught or to get his feet wet. These things are often contributing factors to the cold. They often lower the resistance of the body at a time when resistance is needed to fight off a cold infection. But to develop a cold, there must be bacteria present. This bacteria must have come from some carrier of the infection. So, the first step in stamping out colds in children—in adults too, for that matter—is to prevent contacts with people who have colds.

Mothers have asked me just how completely their child should be isolated from cold carriers. "Is it safe to allow anyone with a cold in the same room with the baby?" I am frequently asked. The answer is an emphatic, "NO." A person with a cold has no business in the same room with a child.

I know lots of people will say that this is impossible. Well, it is difficult, I'll admit. We couldn't completely isolate the Quintuplets. But we did cut the chances of meeting people with colds to a minimum. Anyone can do that. Make a rule that anyone with a cold mustn't go near your child. Probably you won't be able to keep everyone out. Someone may come who has the germ, but who hasn't developed the cold yet. But if you follow this rule you will at least do as we do with the Quints—cut cold contacts to a minimum.

PRESIDENT GOES TO GEORGIA FOR THANKSGIVING

To Carve Turkey At Warm Springs

Georgia Observes Thanksgiving Tomorrow With Half Of States Of U. S.

MRS. ROOSEVELT GOES WITH HER HUSBAND

By GEORGE DUNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 22.—President Roosevelt came back today to his "other home" in Georgia, the Warm Springs Infirmary Paralysis Foundation, to carve Thanksgiving turkey as usual for the youngsters who are patients there. Georgia, by order of Governor E. D. Rivers, was accepting the President's newly proclaimed Thanksgiving Day tomorrow along with about half the other states.

The Presidential special toured south through the night through snow flurries in Virginia and elsewhere.

At Little White House
As is his custom, Mr. Roosevelt planned to devote the better part of the week's stay at his Warm Springs cottage—the "Little White House"—on Pine Mountain to relaxation and sport in the body temperature naturally spring-fed swimming pool.

Some work inevitably was in prospect. It appeared the President might spend some time further weighing next year's budget estimates in order to pare them to a point where additional taxes will not be necessary.

Mrs. Roosevelt accompanied the Executive South and will help officiate tomorrow at the turkey dinner with trimmings in Georgia Hall.

Office Force Accompanies
Ready to aid the President in keeping abreast of imperative official duties was a compact skeleton office staff of secretaries and stenographers.

Heading the accompanying group of executive office officials were Brig. Gen. Edwin M. Watson, secretary and military aide; Admiral Ross T. McIntire, surgeon general of the navy and White House physician; Marguerite Lehman, personal secretary, and William D. Hassett, acting press secretary.

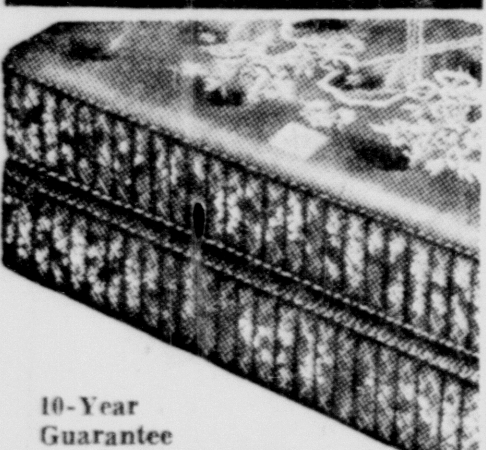

Mail pouches will be flown back and forth between Washington and Warm Springs daily. Special telephone and telegraph wires have been installed at the health resort to keep the President instantly in touch with any part of the United States or the rest of the world.

Receive Message Beulah Heaton Is Recuperating

Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Heaton, of Park avenue, have received word from their daughter Beulah, who is a missionary in the Philippine Islands, that she had been quite ill for ten days, but was recuperating, though somewhat weak. There is not much medical aid on the island of Cuyo, where she is located, and the missionaries are their own "doctors," unless the case becomes serious enough for the patient to be sent to Manila, a three days trip by boat. The boat calls at Cuyo, once every ten days.

NEW CASTLE-SHARON WILL PLAY HERE THURSDAY

Schoolboy Elevens Ready To Ring Down 1939 Gridiron Curtain

New Castle High "Red Hurricane" Hopes To Trip Strong Sharon High Tiger Team; Seven Local Regulars Will See Action For Last Time; Sharon Brings Fine Season Record Here, Defeated But Once; Hope For Break From Weatherman And Crowd Of Over 10,000; Kick-off Is At 2:30 O'Clock.

CONTINUING a football relationship that had its origin back in 1912—twenty-seven years ago to be exact—New Castle High School's big "Red Hurricane" grid machine will play host here Thursday afternoon (Thanksgiving Day) to the Orange Tigers of Sharon High School. The kickoff at 2:30 o'clock will find the stands at Taggart Stadium jammed to capacity. A crowd of 10,000 or over is looked for.

The battle steeping in tradition will be the final one of the 1939 campaign for both teams. Sharon comes here defeated once by Columbus Central and tied by Grove City, while New Castle hopes to end a not to prosperous as far as victories are concerned, season by trimming the Orange invaders from Mercer County. This is going to be a trick that they may find most difficult.

Sharon Wants Revenge
That snow-battle that the two teams played at Sharon last Thanksgiving still hurts the Sharon boys every time they think of that safety that gave the New Castle team two points and the ball game at 2 to 0. Sharon has been pointing for this important battle here. Coach Dave Sewart would like to win this one more than any other on the entire 1939 card. So would Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh like to win this one. It will be the last game and they can both throw caution to the winds.

It should be a honey of a ball game all the way. Both teams have considerable deception. They both have a tricky passing system. Both teams have speedy backs, that pack a lot of power. It will be two fine ball clubs against each other. On paper the Sharon record looks the best, but these paper records mean but little when old traditional rivals tangle.

Seven Regulars In Finale
Seven of the regulars on the "Red Hurricane" football team will don the mole skins for the final time tomorrow as members of the New Castle High team. John Kuhns left tackle and left-half back; Arthur "Dynamite" Castrucci, right tackle; Patsy Piccirilli, right guard; Lindy Lauro, fullback; Tom Gilboy, left guard; Joe Gender, quarterback and right-half, and Ralph "Handsome" Cennamo, if his throat is improved. He is the left end.

The Sharon High line will have a pull in the weights greater than the New Castle front wall, but the backfield of New Castle will have a slight advantage in weight over the Sharons.

Last Saturday Sharon defeated Beaver Falls High 19 to 0 and New Castle topped Erie Tech, losing as they did a fine center in Warren Morgan who suffered an injured tion 4 is practically a sell-out. The tickets may be bought until 5 o'clock this evening.

Sharon will bring several hundred here. They are excited about this game in Sharon, thinking that maybe this is the year that Sharon can dump the New Castle team. They have done it but once since Bridenbaugh came here and that was in 1937, 7 to 0. Three times previous to 1922 the Sharon team trimmed the Red and Blacks. The fine Sharon High band will come here for the game. They will be joined by the local High band and will present an impressive sight as they combine and march down the field.

Flag Raising Planned
Plans are under way for an impressive flag raising ceremony preceding the New Castle-Sharon game on Thursday afternoon at Taggart Stadium. The exercises will be participated in by both the New Castle and Sharon high bands. The exercises will be directed by Professor Joe Repligle of the local senior high band. The ceremony will probably start in the event of nice weather at 2:15 o'clock.

Locals Conclude Training
The New Castle High team ended its training this afternoon with a light signal drill at the stadium. Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh was rather well pleased at the spirit and determination that the boys have for this classic with Sharon High. They want to win and will go out there tomorrow afternoon to give their best.

At the quarterback post will be Freddie McKee a boy who is destined to go places next year as a "Red Hurricane" back. He has shown a marked improvement this year in his play. He will be very valuable for next season, along with Larry Roberts and Otis Burris, the Izzo twins and Ciaza.

Expect Big Crowd
All that will hold back a mammoth crowd tomorrow is the weatherman. If the day is right the stadium will fill very rapidly once the big gates are swung open. The doors open at 1 o'clock. There are very few seats left in Section 5 and Section 6.

'Brain Bowl' Is Definitely Out

Missouri Teachers Refuse To Battle Slippery Rock Grid Eleven

ROCKETS' 1939 SEASON IS OVER

(Special To The News)
SLIPPERY ROCK Nov. 22.—That much talked about "Brain Bowl" is definitely out, Athletic Director A. P. Dodds, of Slippery Rock State Teachers College, announced today. The intercollegiate bowl, a brain-bowl, of D. H. Timmerman of the St. Joseph Chamber of Commerce, was scheduled for this Saturday in the Missouri city, and would have pitted Slippery Rock's undefeated and untied grid machine against the crack Northwestern Missouri State Teachers College.

Dodds received a wire late Tuesday afternoon stating that the proposed post season clash was definitely out as the Northwestern Missouri Teachers College had refused to play this Saturday or the following Saturday, December 2.

"Sorry this ends us," Timmerman wired Dodds.
The bowl stirred considerable interest throughout the gridiron world. Director Dodds, believing that all plans had been completed for the clash, had already figured ways and means of making the jaunt to the western end of Missouri.

The St. Joseph Chamber of Commerce had forgotten an important detail, that of consulting the Teachers college 40 miles from St. Joseph, located at Maryville. When Slippery Rock officials checked at Maryville, Saturday, they learned that the Missouri school knew nothing about the proposed clash. Missouri school officials also pointed out that it would be impossible to play since seven of their players were going to National Guard training camps.

A suggestion was made that the game be played on Saturday, December 2. This also failed to meet with the approval of the Maryville authorities on the ground that it would be "too cold."

Dodds today expressed regrets that the post season game was called off. "The postponement means the end of the 1939 football season for Slippery Rock."

The gridiron loss won by the Rockets are being tucked away in the moth balls.

As a much sought-after about the country Sam Francis, former Nebraska All-American would be difficult to beat. He played with Philadelphia in the National Pro football league, was traded to Chicago Bears, later went to the Pittsburgh Pirates and now is with Brooklyn.

Harry Cook of the Seventh Ward was another of the fortunate who got a bruin. His bear weighed 235 pounds. Safety first should be the motto of hunters when they go into the fields Thanksgiving Day. A flock of hunters will be out Iowa's football attack is dangerous at any point on the field. Seven of the first 12 touchdowns scored by the Hawkeyes this fall started from behind the 20 yard line.

Eddie Shore is now manager of the Springfield, Mass. Hockey team.

Titan Gridders To Get Letters

Seventeen Football Men At Westminster Named By Coach

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Nov. 22.—Seventeen football lettermen were named today by Coach G. C. Washbaugh, Westminster Titan coach. In the group were two gridders, Julius Lapacki of New Brighton and Dale Youkers of Butler, co-captains during the 1939 season, who have won four football letters each.

Lettermen winning their third letters include Harry DePaula, Alliquippa; Dan Mamula, Pittsburgh; Bill Ruffe, end and Harry Shoup, back. Two-letter winners are Fred Brinkley, Brookville; Art Edwards, New Wilmington; and Tony Valicenti, Mt. Lebanon.

Winners of their first letters are Pete Evanoff, Erie; Wilber Leonard Grovett; Stan Lutton, Buffalo, N. Y.; Richard Newton, Ellwood City; Theodore Ossoff, Oil City; Harold Plau, New Springfield, Ohio; Don Riblet, Erie and Bob Washbaugh, New Wilmington.

A letter was also awarded senior manager Walter Kenyon, Pittsford. Beginning this year, certificates of awards will be issued to all lettermen, featuring blue block W's.

Harry DePaula, tackle from Alliquippa, will be ineligible to play for the Titans next year because of four years of college play.

Archie Schaeffer, for making lettermen awards will take place before the Christmas holidays.

MISCELLANEOUS
The wife had been put on the budget plan. At the end of each month she and her husband would go over the accounts together. Every once in a while he would find an item, "G. O. K. $3," and a little further on, "G. O. K. $6."

Finally he said, "My dear, what is this—G. O. K.?"
"Goodness Only Knows," she replied.

Sports World Ramblings
Local Tidbits: Ellwood City high draws the brass ring for its remarkable grid comeback. After dropping the opener to Bessemer, the Wolverines won seven triumphs. A 0-0 tie with Butler cost the Tubers a chance to win the W. P. I. A. L. toga... Tom Carey, ex-New Castle grid and floor star, looms as one of the brightest prospects on Slippery Rock's basketball squad.

When Centerville high school's gridiron eleven bowled over South Huntington to cop the championship of the middle Monongahela Valley B. Conference recently, the victory was the twenty-third in 25 clashes, the remaining two being scoreless ties. The triumph meant another undefeated campaign for the Centerville institution. The Washington County edition piled up 200 points against 0 for the opponents.

The man who pilots this classy aggregation is Paul E. Hoskins, New Castle high, class '24. Hoskins, who weighed 120 pounds, was a star basketball player in high school. Since taking over the coaching reigns, Hoskins' team have enjoyed much success season after season. Paul is carving a distinguish spot for himself in the Centerville community. A success story is always good tidings to the folks back home... Ohio eligibility rules: Many inquiries have reached this bureau regarding Ohio's Athletic eligibility rules for high schools that an explanation may clarify the various points and ease the minds of local fans once and for all. Luke Emery, Massillon's sports editor, has forwarded the various rulings as well as an official eligibility certificate which include data relative to the Massillon high school squad.

Emery points out that the rules in Ohio correspond to those in this state. The 20-year age limit is "in fact." At present, the Ohio Scholastic Association is considering a vote on a 19-year limit. Emery believes this will be submitted. Scholastically, a boy must have at least a passing grade in three subjects in order to be eligible for each successive week of play. Likewise, a boy must have been in school and passed the previous semester in order to participate in football...

Massillon's eligibility certificate reveals that a 19-year ruling would have cost the Tigers the services of but two gridders, Bill Zimmerman, regular, and George Fabian, a sub. The list also shows three lads 15, eight athletes have reached 16; 10 boys are 17; one gridders are 18; three are 19 and only one is 20. Yarns about Massillon high being a five year school and about the players being well past the 20 year mark are the well known bunk....

MERCER, Pa., Nov. 22.—Frank Daniels, 66, farmer, R. D. 1, is in a serious condition in the city hospital, as the result of being kicked in the stomach by a horse.

Propaganda must be subtle this time. Americans who can read have become skeptical of any evidence unless it agrees with them.

Two Champions In One Family

Teddy Yarosz, Professional Champion, And Tommy, Amateur Ruler

JOHNNY GRIMES TO BATTLE REALE

When Tommy Yarosz of Monaca climbs through the ropes to fight Merle Haley of Brownsville in the Arena, next Monday night, they will be seeing the second member of a family to wear a pugilistic crown.

Teddy Yarosz, brother to Tommy, defeated Vince Dundee of Baltimore, to capture the professional middleweight title and Tommy is accredited with holding the state welterweight title of the A. A. U.

According to reports the Brownsville fighters are equal to if not better than the aggregation which has been coming from Cecil. If this turns out to be a proven fact here fans should see plenty of action.

The Brownsville fans are considerably agog about their scrappers and every time one sees a fellow townsman crawl through the ropes, he exclaims, "Brownsville against the world!"

Here is the Brownsville line-up: Merle Haley vs. Tommy Yarosz, Monaca, state 147 pound champion A. A. U.

Mark Lockman vs. Smokey Robinson, Oil City, lightweight king of the A. A. U., eastern division.

Al Klingensmith vs. Johnny Como, Mendville, 147 pound Golden Glove winner in the Erie Herald-Dispatch tourney.

Johnny Grimes, son of Paddy, who brought Nick Polls to fight professionally when the Jolly bowl, operated, is another good amateur. He will take on Billy Reale, the Castlewood farm boy.

Patsy Branigan will bring from Pittsburgh, Hank Hanna, 145, Al Bodick, 133, and Jimmie McCoy, 118, to fight Chuck Arnett, West Pittsburg, Russ Phillips, Oil City and Jimmy Seutell, Oil City, respectively.

Back Chambers, a high school lad of West Pittsburg and Harry Slater of Oil City, will weigh 160. Chambers has a large following and fans are looking forward to a night of considerable action when the amateurs clash.

Franklin High Had Good Success During Past Football Season, Many Get Awards

Principal Frank Burton of Ben Franklin Junior High at chapel exercises yesterday morning handed out letters to the Franklin High football boys. The season that closed a week or so ago was successful and at once began digging in his bag for something to wear. Out came three pairs of long underwear, (one pair wool, two pairs cotton) two pairs wool socks, one pair silk socks, one pair sheep-skin moccasins, articles, one wool hunting coat, one pair wool hunting breeches, one hunting cap and a pair of mittens. One wool sweater which he stored in the game pocket of his hunting coat. Oh yes, he did wear two shirts too, one wool, the other flannel. Now picture this man with all these clothes on, if you can. He was as round as he was tall. I can't for the life of me figure out how he could navigate. But he was always in front of the first man on top of the mountains. I think he wore these clothes for protection from bear attacks, instead of exposure.

BEARS VERSES HUNTERS

Last Tuesday we left for the big woods to seek the haunts of old bruisers. The party included Jimmie Cypher, Fritz Frazier, Jack Matthews, Eddie Troy, the Village Barber from Sandy Lake and yours truly. We had a splendid trip to camp. The weather was ideal when we left New Castle, with our top coats lying over the backs of the seats. Before Kane came to us on the road we stopped and donned our coats, gloves and Cypher even dug out the overshoes. Ice was on the road, driving bad. The snow plows were tearing into the drifts ahead of us. Quite a change from the Indian Summer weather we left behind us. The thermometers in Kane were going into a huddle at fifteen above. We stopped for our usual cup of coffee and continued our journey to Emporium. We finally arrived at camp at 2:00 a. m. collected our bags and baggage. The first chore of the morning was to build a fire, without wood or coal. The captain handed each man a flashlight and sent us into the woods to gather kindling for the kitchen stove. I suppose the wild-life thought that we were just a bunch of giant fireflies buzzing about for no reason at all. Soon the fire was going strong, and Cypher made us a cup of coffee to go with it. About that time another car drove up, with Layle Christie and Fred Friesbe as its occupants. I'll bet those birds were sitting down the road waiting for us to get the home fires burning because as soon as we set the coffee pot on the table, they came bustin' in. We crawled into the bunks at 3:00 a. m. and the alarm was set for 4:00. We got up at six o'clock under our belts we set out to find old man bear. I think we were looking for bear tracks, because everyone seemed to be more interested in his tracks than in the bear himself. Whenever one hunter would meet another in the woods, he would ask, "Seen any tracks, or signs?" The heck you can shoot tracks, and as far as the signs are concerned that was a signal that he had been there, but it didn't say anything that he was coming back, or when. So we spent two days looking for tracks and signs. But the bear was always ahead of us, and we failed to see him. Altho if Lady Luck had been with us we would of had one for sure. But as we know success can often be as elusive as the lady's smile. Victory, to those few, who were in the right place at the right time. The fact that I'm unlucky in my favorite pastimes of hunting long ago ceased to impair my enjoyment. But it was a good sportsman one must take things as they come, and about the only thing I increase is my blood pressure, and not my big.

Sportsmen's Council of Lawrence County met last Friday night at East New Castle, and due to the absence of many of its members the meeting was postponed until a later date, according to Harold Parker, president.

NOTHING X TWENTY FIVE
I mentioned about a certain fellow being out the first day of small game season and shooting a box of shells and getting two rabbits. Well I've been told later that those two rabbits were given to him. Your like me Bill, you have lots of fun and get home, tired out. I've been out with fellows who get the limit and I'm just not there. I've shot a gun several years and think I'm the nuts when season comes—nice gun, feels good and handles swell. But the game will not fly in line of fire. Record heads of many kinds of game have sauntered past me unscathed, only to fall later under the unerring aim of my buddies. My trophy is generally some mammal scarcely weaned, but tender.

Corum Raves About Cornell
NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—It may be because I was fortunate enough to see it on its two best Saturdays against Ohio State and Dartmouth, but I don't believe that there is a college football team in the country that could take any liberties with Cornell.

And I am positive that no team with the same high standard of scholarship and sportsmanship could do it. Beat the "big red" they might. Old Penn may in its final game of the season next Saturday. But give it a tossing around, no siree, no siree, I'd have to see it before I'd believe it.

FLASH! COLD WEATHER AROUND CORNER
If you don't believe me, ask any one of our pet and they will verify this statement. Cypher, saw the thermometer on the camp porch the first morning read twenty above and at once began digging in his bag for something to wear. Out came three pairs of long underwear, (one pair wool, two pairs cotton) two pairs wool socks, one pair silk socks, one pair sheep-skin moccasins, articles, one wool hunting coat, one pair wool hunting breeches, one hunting cap and a pair of mittens. One wool sweater which he stored in the game pocket of his hunting coat. Oh yes, he did wear two shirts too, one wool, the other flannel. Now picture this man with all these clothes on,

The series between the Irish and Trojans shows seven for Notre Dame, five for Southern California and one tied game.

Thus, John Stonebreaker, an end, is being groomed to replace tackle Bob De Lauer. Quarterbacks Ambly Schindler and Bob Berryman and right half Roy Enls are prepared to operate in the fullback spots if injured Jack Banta and Bill Sangster are not able to see much action.

However, in most cases, these "injured" players have a way of recovering miraculously as the time for the game to draw nigh.

CORUM RAVES ABOUT CORNELL

enough, fast, smart, two deep, and coached to play with cohesion and precision, what else can it be? And that's the current Cornell copyright.

It is a team without a star. On Saturday against Dartmouth, it was a team of stars.

On that sunshaded afternoon beneath the dark pines of the New Hampshire hills, Carl Snaveley's Red Snappers were riding the beam with the wind behind them. They made five touchdowns. They might have made twice that number, and the lone score they permitted the startled White Indians was a gift horse whose teeth nobody bothered to examine.

One of the officials allowed a long forward pass for interference at the seven yard line. In four plays, mixed with a flicker of strategy and well-shaken, the green finally managed to go over.

The altar setting was a background of chrysanthemums and special lighting effects added to the impressiveness of the pageant. "We Thank Thee, Lord." Trent, Mrs. Raymond Gustafson, Mrs. Floyd Rice, Anna Allshouse, Edith Holshausen and Mrs. William Gustafson.

The musical setting was presented by Lena Richards at the organ, and solo numbers by Mrs. Ben Agnew, Dennis Allshouse, and Esther Trent. "The Children of the Church" introduced the theme.

Preceding the pageant the devotional service was conducted by Mrs. William Emery, president of the Women's Missionary Society, and Mrs. Floyd Rice, president of the Catherine von Bora Society. Rev. F. E. Stough, and Dr. J. H. Miller assisted in the service, further portraying the spirit of Thanksgiving.

DON'T GIVE YOUR CHILD

A "Bargain" Remedy You Don't Know All About

A child's life is beyond the price of pennies. Ask your doctor before giving your child doubtful "bargain" remedies. No family need take this chance today.

Wait, Think first. Are you absolutely sure you should give a single dose of that drug to your child? Internally? It was sold, you recall, as "something just as good", for a few pennies less.

A very dear purchase it could be! For your own peace of mind alone, give no home remedy you're not quite certain about without getting your own doctor's opinion. And never go against it.

Even in the case of the common children's remedy, milk of magnesia, ask your doctor what he approves. And when he says "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" see that you get exactly that by asking expressly for "Phillips'" when you buy...never ask for just "milk of magnesia".

If your child prefers Phillips' in the newer form—tiny peppermint-flavored tablets, give it this way. But whether you get liquid Phillips' or Phillips' Tablets get the genuine Phillips' Look for the name "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" on bottle or box.

Lobby Party Held At 'Y' On Tuesday

Address Is Made By Rev. Chester T. R. Yeates At Thanksgiving Party

Forty young men last night heard Rev. Chester T. R. Yeates, pastor of the Third United Presbyterian church deliver an inspiring Thanksgiving message at the annual Thanksgiving "lobby party" of the Y. M. C. A. in the main hall of the "Y."

The audience heard him say that for one priceless possession alone—for freedom of religious thought and views—we as Americans should thank God this Thanksgiving.

Participating in the program with the minister were Robert L. Meermans and Henry T. MacNicholas, general secretary and assistant general secretary, respectively, of the association. MacNicholas presided.

The "Y" through closed the evening with a "putty basketball tournament" conducted with rules and regulations contrary to everything that makes good sense. The rules were fashioned to create fun, not to maintain established floor order.

Physical Director William Winter and able Key Men's club aides directed it.

Refreshments were also served during the evening.

The winning "putty tournament" team, which copied glory after more than an hour of competition, included Nick Lucas, John Frazier, Henry Dombrowski, Albert Genkinger, Mike Coates and Ed Skanast.

Eddie Jenkins was pianist for the lobby program.

Because of the holiday, the normal activities of the "Y" will be suspended Thursday.

BUY IN NEW CASTLE— TO PRESERVE TROLLEYS

SEATTLE, Wash.—So kids of the future may see just what kind of laughable contraption in which Mr. and Pa bounced to work in 1939, plans are being made to preserve one of Seattle's ancient trolley-cars for a permanent historical exhibit.

A proposal to place one street car on a short length of track in a city park when the city's transportation system undergoes rehabilitation has been backed by the Northwest Railroad Historical Society.

There are only three primary human emotions. These are love, anger, and fear, and all others are merely modifications of these original three.

FUEL-BEARING PEAT LOG

(International News Service)
QUINCY, Mass.—Mrs. Cora Bennett has a fuel-bearing peat bog under her house—but it required a fire to reveal the fact.

Seeing smoke seeping up through the floor of the cellar, Mrs. Bennett called the fire department. Firemen broke through the cement floor of the cellar and found a peat bog beneath the house smoldering steadily. It was the first indication that peat was to be found in the vicinity.
